JACK FLIPPIN

Flippin Seeking Precinct 1 Post

B. W. "Jack" Flippin announced his candidacy for commissioner of Precinct 1 in Canyon, subject to action in the Democratic primary, with the following statement:

"I have been a resident of Randall County for nine years, and I now live between Canyon and Amarillo on Washington Street. My wife, Betty Jean, and I have three children and are members of the South Lawn Church of Christ, which I serve as a deacon.

"Also I am a member of the South Amarillo Kiwanis Club and a member of the Home Builders Association.

"I was raised on a farm near Snyder and spent two years in the armed services, most of the time overseas. I worked for the Gulf Oil Corporation in Borger for about five years before going into the heating and plumbing business. Started as a small business, I have built it into one of the largest heating and plumbing businesses in Amarillo. I also have interests in properties in South Amarillo and serve on the board of directors of the Church Loans Investment Company.

If elected, I will:

1. Oppose any group which seeks to move the Randall-Potter County line;

2. Support the equalization of taxes;

3. Seek to decrease city taxes, if it is possible to do so without jeopardizing the county finance structure. If this means is not possible, there would be no other way to equalize the taxes except rural property evaluation in line with city evaluation.

"Your vote and support in the coming primary election will be appreciated."

If Facts on Donation Needed, Call Langston

In 1959, more than half the donors to the Randall County Cancer Crusade made cash contributions.

If, for income tax purposes, a person would like to know what his or her business gave, they may call Tom Langston at OL5-2161, extension 203, and obtain the information.

Jr. Class Sets Play March 7

A three-act comedy, "The Little Dog Laughed," will be presented Monday and Tuesday in the Canyon High School auditorium by the junior class.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Admission is 50 and 75 cents.

A delightful comedy, the play deals with the Huntington family whose daughter returns home after two years of college to psychoanalyze the family and some friends of her mother's. The family decides to get even with the daughter and to "out-psychoanalyze the psychologist."

Members of the cast are Laurie Huntington, played by Sally White; Sidney Huntington, Jimmy Dale Killingsworth; Martha Huntington, Beverly Richard; Wally Huntington, Kerry Knorpp; Miss Gus, Peggy Sue Hales.

Joan Wood, Judy K. Wilson; Ted Wood, Bill Callarman; William Wood, Candy Throckmorton; Mack Bradford, Weston Moore; Horatio P. Honeywell, Tom Stone.

A unique setting showing the inside and the outside of the house has been devised by Edward Dwyer, vocational agriculture instructor.

The story is based on the nursery rhyme, "The Little Dog Laughed." It is directed by Mrs. Lee Foster, assisted by the class sponsors, Mrs. Dan Sanders and Gene Murray.

Heart Fund Drive Collects $692

Heart fund workers are still tabulating results of the American Heart Association's annual drive in Randall County. With almost $700 counted, results are expected to equal and probably surpass last year's drive when nearly $1,000 was raised, Joe Gidden, campaign chairman, said.

A house-to-house canvass and a children's movie raised $692. Businesses solicitations' reports have not yet been turned in.

The canvass, conducted Sunday by Boy Scouts, collected $609. Youngsters in the first through fifth grades in Canyon, Umbarger, and Happy schools, donated $83 through the movie, "The War Drums," shown Saturday by Charles Donnell, manager of Canyon Theatres, Inc.

Gidden said that anyone missed in the drive may mail donations to the Heart Fund, in care of the First National Bank in Canyon.

A roaring blaze at the Conway Kuykendall cottage at City Club greeted volunteer firemen last week when they answered the call. The fire reportedly began in a small well house and spread to the rear of the cottage. All that remained of the house Friday afternoon was the fireplace chimney.

Saturday Will End Run of 'Antigone'

Performances of Jean Anouilh's modern version of a famed Greek tragedy, "Antigone," will continue Wednesday through Saturday nights in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College.

The production, a feature of the annual Festival of the Arts at WT, is directed by William A. Moore, assisted by Robert L. Antrim, technical director of the BIT. Both men have starring roles in the drama, which was brought to fame shortly after World War II by Katherine Cornell. Admission is $1 for adults and 75 cents for students. Curtain time each night is 8:15.

Different groups are being honored each night, with the opening night Tuesday being designated "Faculty Emeritus Night," when former faculty members of WT were honored. Wednesday is Art Night, and Thursday is Alpha Psi Omega Night. The West Texas State chapter of the national dramatics fraternity is celebrating its 22nd birthday, and former dramatics students will be honored.

Other nights are Friday, Music Night, and Saturday, Golden Spread Night.

Top French Author

Anouilh is recognized as one of the top three contemporary French writers, and since his father was a tailor and his wife an actress, he calls himself "a maker of plays." He is author of a play currently on Broadway in New York, starring Rex Harrison. It is titled "Cock-a-doodle Dandy."

Starring in "Antigone" are Moore as Chorus, Antrim as Creon, the king, Marti Hinson of Groom as Antigone.

Others in the cast are Bonnie Scott of Amarillo as the nurse, Jan Adair of Canyon as Ismene, Jerry Ballew of Perryton as Haemon, Tookey Scott of San Angelo as Eurydice, Scott Glenn of Borger, Truman Dunahoo of Muleshoe, and Dwayne Smith of Pampa as guards, Gary Wyatt of Dimmitt as a messenger, and Mark Olson, Canyon youngster, as a page.

Modern Dress, Language

With simple sets, featuring the legendary Greek columns, the play is in modern dress and language. The story, however, remains the same as was written by Sophocles.

Briefly related, the story concerns two sons and two daughters of mother-loving Oedipus, lately departed king of Thebes, and his brother-in-law, Creon, who has now become king.

The two brothers have had a civil war and have killed each other, and Creon, full of righteousness and edicts, has ordained that one of the brothers be left unburied—carrion for dogs and vultures.

Antigone, a sister, defies the edict, heaps earth upon the dishonored corpse, and is buried alive for punishment. This sets off a chain of suicides which rocks old Creon to his base.

Pioneer Druggist Buried Tuesday

Funeral services for Ninus Eugene McIntire, 82, who operated The Pharmacy here for 36 years, were held Tuesday at LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

McIntire, who resided at 1309 Fifth Avenue, died Sunday at Neblett Hospital. He had been hospitalized for about a week.

A member of the First Methodist Church of Canyon, McIntire was born April 10, 1877, in Forney, Texas. He married Bruce Jane Gass in Vernon on April 2, 1905.

They moved to Canyon in 1911 from Graham and Nocona. McIntire operated The City Pharmacy, on the west side of the square, until he retired in 1947. The Pharmacy had been owned by Mrs. McIntire's father, D. R. Gass, in its early years.

Officiating at the services Tuesday were Rev. H. Doyle Ragle, pastor of the First Methodist Church here, and Rev. Donald G. Price, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery, with LaGrone Funeral Chapel in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include the wife; one daughter, Mrs. J. P. Whittington of San Antonio; one brother, Allen McIntire of Sweetwater; one sister, Sally McIntire of Forney; one granddaughter, Miss Jean Whittington of San Antonio; four nieces, and three nephews.

Pall bearers were Paul Rogers, Felix Pierce, James Cole, Pat Britain, Worth Jennings, Robert Foster, Delbert Lowes, and E. T. Cummings.

Honorary pall bearers were the Methodist Men's Fellowship Class and the Pioneers of Canyon.

Late Breakfast To Begin Drive

A one-day drive to aid the Boy Scouts of America will be launched by a kick-off breakfast at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday in the West Texas State College cafeteria.

Joe A. Gibson, campaign chairman, said workers hope to complete the drive Tuesday.

Originally set for 7 a.m., the breakfast was changed to 8:30 to allow mothers to get their youngsters off to school in time to attend.

Mrs. R. P. Jarrett has replaced Mrs. A. L. Crossland as one of three "majors" for the drive. Other "majors" are W. B. Harris and Milton Morris. Each major has recruited five captains.

Captains selected by Mrs. Jarrett are Mrs. B. J. Ormsby, Mrs. Jack Swatzell, Mrs. A. C. Haley, Jr., Mrs. O. W. Parker, and Mrs. Bob Bellah.

Harris captains are Wesley Cox, Lawrence Brotherton, A. M. Cunningham, George Blackwell, and Sidney Burgess.

Petitions Draft 3 For Race

Two petitions, seeking to draft three men for the coming race for the school board of Canyon Independent School District, have been in circulation the past several days.

First petition out was one which asked Bob Wear, minister of the Central Church of Christ, to allow his name to be placed on the school ballot.

Wear filed for the post last Friday, but said he would not actively seek election.

Troth, Cox Drafted

Another petition asked Riley Troth, owner of Canyon Drug, and Wesley Cox, local farmer, to allow their names to be put on the ballot.

The petition drafting the duo was being circulated in Canyon Tuesday by Clancy Cummings. Cummings said he had about 200 signatures on the petition seeking to draft Troth and Cox.

Neither Troth nor Cox had filed Wednesday for election with Bill Sternenberg, school board secretary.

Mrs. Clay Cooper filed two weeks ago for reelection to the board. She has served as a board member for three years.

Neblett Not in Race

Mrs. R. A. Neblett, another board member whose term expires this year, has said she would not seek reelection.

Only two offices are to be filled at the April 2 election.

Although there is some doubt as to whether or not Wear will keep his name on the ballot, he has taught school at Hereford and Canyon.

He holds a master of education degree from West Texas State College and is certified for elementary and secondary teaching. He also has been certified by the Texas Education Agency as a public school councilor.

Cox, although now a farmer, has been a school teacher and a high school coach.

The school board has set the site of the coming election for the Legion Hall, Third Avenue at 16th Street, and named A. L. Crossland as election judge.

Nedra Fanning, head cheerleader for the Eagles, was named Football queen, while Marilyn Winn was named queen of the basketball team. Miss Winn is a basketball star in her own right, being the second high scorer for the girls team during the season.

Principal speaker at the banquet was Howard Lynch, former Amarillo High School coach who is now principal at Tascosa High School in Amarillo. Lynch was introduced by Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College.

Chuck Nester, high school senior, gave the invocation. Gene Murray, choir director, was in charge of music.

J. E. Miller, high school principal, presented the Fighting Heart award, while Joe A. Gibson, superintendent, presented the Outstanding Player award.

The Latchstring Is Out

This is the week school administrators would like for every person to drop by one of the schools for a first-hand look at the education Canyon students are receiving.

Teaching techniques and textbooks have changed considerably in the past few years. And the student of "just a few years ago" will be amazed at the advances which have been made in enabling pupils with different abilities and goals to receive the best possible education.

And something to keep in mind is that this school you are visiting is one of the few governmental divisions which is operated and maintained at the local level. State intervention is at a minimum; federal intervention—at the present time—is non-existent.

The great advances made in public education in the past 50 years has been due to concern at the grassroots level.

And we hope that operation of our school system will be left to our friends and neighbors, whom we elect to set the policies of the school and to appoint the teachers of our children.

This system of government in Texas' schools has worked for 106 years, and out of it has come a tremendously high standard of living and a literacy rate which is equally as high.

Our first public schools were created 106 years ago, when—in 1854—the first law was passed establishing the public school.

It is a healthy thing to have an intelligent understanding of one of our basic institutions. And the more we understand our schools, the more we can help them as they struggle to fulfill their obligation to our times.

The door to the schools is open this week; accept their hospitality, and you will enjoy the experience of going back to school—if but for a day.

The Growing Risks

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter called attention recently to two risks growing out of the nuclear arms race. Both previously had been cited by others, but their significance is such that the American people ought to keep them in mind, along with the implications they raise.

One is the danger of what Mr. Herter termed "war by miscalculation." This danger is compounded by the aggressive policies of communism, which thrive on the creation of crises, conflicts and tension. Some such situation could develop into general war, the secretary warned, without either side intending it to happen.

Another danger is that of a nuclear world war being triggered by some irresponsible lesser power into whose hands atomic weapons could fall if the spread of these weapons is not somehow restricted.

Of the two perils, the second seems at the moment to be the greater. The Communists have pushed their luck to the point of danger on several occasions during the postwar era. Still, there have been indications that they allow themselves plenty of room to back down before the nuclear weapons start bristling. The United States can hardly afford to be intimidated by the fear of atomic war from fulfilling its obligations to defend itself and the free world. To do so would be, in effect, to surrender in advance to Red domination, for, knowing the United States would not risk a nuclear fight be standing firm, the Communists would proceed to conquer the world piecemeal. But in checking the Red probings along the free world frontier, the West undoubtedly knows to avoid certain gestures that might alarm the Soviet Union into unleashing its own atomic arsenal.

If the spread of atomic weapons should become "unmanageable," however, there is a possibility some reckless, small-time tyrant could get hold of an H-bomb and use it to strike a spark over the nuclear powder keg. His motive would be to provoke the major powers into destroying each other in the hope that he could gain world domination.

The frightening possibility should be a spur, not for the United States to abandon its defensive arsenal or shrink from its responsibility to safeguard freedom wherever it is threatened, but to press harder for an international agreement to prevent the further enlargement of the "atomic family."

A Word of Thanks

One of the nicest compliments that can be paid any fire department is to say, "Thanks for keeping my fire rate so low."

And just this compliment is what members of the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department should be getting. The splendid work being done by the department should not go unheeded by the people who profit from it.

After April 1, residents of the city will begin receiving 25 percent credit on fire insurance. This means that the regular fire insurance rate will be discounted by one-fourth. It amounts to quite a savings for the entire town.

Damage from fires within the city limits has been kept at a minimum for the past five years. That's the reason the credit was advanced from 20 percent to 25 percent.

So before you pay your premium for fire insurance this year, give a word of thanks to the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Paul Crume in the Dallas Morning News: Every time Dallas gets a little old 3-inch snow like this, people get on the phone in droves to ask whether we ever saw anythink like this in West Texas.

When we tell them that we have seen snow 10 feet deep in the Texas Panhandle, they express polite doubt and chuckle. How do people live in snow like that, they ask. How do you get around?

Bascom Nelson in the Castro County News: Modern science is great. Experts in various fields can almost cure a cold, they can almost launch a satellite at any given time, they can almost predict the outcome of a horse race, they can almost substitute machinery for the human mind, and they can almost predict the weather.

Last week we almost saw the weather predicted. We realize those people at the Weather Bureau have to stick their necks out time and time again. They receive little thanks if they're right and scorn and ridicule if they're wrong (which is just 15 or 20 percent of the time).

Last week we got lucky. It wasn't their time to be 85 percent correct so we didn't find ourselves suddenly up to our ears in snow.

Yet this just points up a truism: You can go to college to study about the weather, you can listen while learned scientists expound about the millibars, highs, lows, dew points and the like, and you can consider yourself a weather expert of world renown. But you just ask any grade school kid in this country and he'll tell you that if you try to predict the weather around here you're crazy as a loon.

Which all goes to show that if you don't like our weather around here just wait a few minutes and it'll change. Or the wind doesn't always blow like this—sometimes it's from the other direction.

Carrie Anderson answered a ringing telephone the other day and found banker Bob on the other end. "Did you write a check for $5 and cash it at the XXXX?" he asked her (quoting the name of a Curry County bottle club).

There was a long silence. She didn't know what to say.

It turned out to be a very interesting story. One cold afternoon recently, Carrie sent Bob Scott downtown to hunt up the hot tamale man for a supply of Mexican delicacies for supper.

Bill Neal in the McLean News: In Alexander King's delightful new novel, "Mine Enemy Grows Older," there is this brief passage:

"I believe, for instance, that most professional aviators are politically very conservative. And where do I get such an idea? Well, partially from the life and confessions of people like Lindbergh, St. Exupery, Rickenbacker, and Ernest Udet . . . I think the loneliness of flying, the sense of absolute power and the constant imminence of disaster are not particularly conducive to all-embracing, democratic feelings."

Now King's book is anything but political, and that quote was thrown in apparently as sort of an after thought. At any rate it coincides with a personal prejudice of mine. I feel that same sort of sentiment when I see this spacious Texas prairie. There is a sort of wild, exhilarating freedom about the vast rolling prairie that—like flying—is not conducive to "all-embracing, democratic feelings."

And I have always thought that anyone who has experienced this exhilarating spirit of freedom could never be enthusiastic in promoting a movement which would regiment citizens into a planned, welfare society.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

Former Governor Neff Gave House Memory of Baylor U. to Treasure

By BOYCE HOUSE

On the subject of memory:

You can know a man — and know him fairly well — and still have difficulty in immediately calling his name.

It may be that you haven't seen him in a good while; or it is on the street in Fort Worth and he lives 200 miles away. If you saw him in his home town, "association" would help you. (We speak of not being able to "place" someone.)

Sometimes you might know a man very well and still your memory refuses to come up with the name.

Fred Korth is one man who realizes this and so he supplies his name when he greets you. He is impressive in size and appearance, has an excellent voice, formerly was Assistant Secretary of the Army and recently became president of the Continental National Bank in Fort Worth—all in all, a man who because of achievement and appearance certainly can have every right to expect to be remembered, yet he considerately supplies his name.

Pat Neff was introduced to someone as "ex-governor of Texas." Neff quickly said, "No — former governor! A former governor is one who retired; an ex-governor is one who got beat."

Neff was the finest speaker in Texas in his era. I heard him speak at the State Democratic Convention in Austin (in 1942, if my memory serves me right). He spoke for half an hour, perhaps a little longer; his language was elevated; his thoughts were stirring. Afterward, newspapermen asked for a copy of his speech. He produced a single piece of paper on which a few notes were written.

When he was president of Baylor University, Governor Neff invited me to address the student body and he introduced me. My scholarly contribution was "How I Took Hollywood by Storm," an account of my adventures in connection with "Boom Town." At the close, he asked the audience that filled the big auditorium to rise. "And now, for our friend," he said, "let's sing 'That Good Old Baylor Line'."

To any individual, that is something to remember; to one who never attended college, it was something to treasure.

Mayor Proclaims 'Day of Prayer'

Mayor Charles Donnell has called upon the citizens of Canyon to participate in the World Day of Prayer in a proclamation issued this week.

Mayor Donnell's proclamation reads:

"Whereas, the General Department of United Church Women of the National Council of the Churches of Christ do undertake to unite all Christians in a bond of prayer; and

"Whereas, thousands of Christians around the world will be united in a service of prayer and thanksgiving in many languages; and

"Whereas, an offering will be used for Christian missions at home and abroad,

"Now, therefore, I, Charles Donnell, Mayor of the City of Canyon, do hereby proclaim March 4, 1960, as World Day of Prayer in the City and do call upon the people of our City to participate in the observance of the day."

Charles Conatser Named 'Distinguished Student'

Charles W. Conatser of Canyon, a student at Texas A&M College, majoring in physics, has been designated a Distinguished Student for the fall semester of 1959.

A Distinguished Student must have registered for 15 or more hours and established a grade point ratio of 2.25 or better and had no grade below that of "C."

Washington Report

Hats Off to Senator 'Tawm'

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

Former Senator Tom Connally gave certain proof the other day that he has lost none of his ability and wit in debate. He wrote a letter to Senator J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, advising the committee that the proposed repeal of the "Connally Amendment" would be most unwise.

He branded the move to support repeal of the amendment as a propaganda device designed to "win an international popularity contest." Under the Connally Ammendment, which gets its name from Senator Connally, the United States reserves the right to determine whether or not the International Court of Justice, referred to commonly as the "world court," has jurisdiction in any case which this country claims is a case of domestic jurisdiction.

In other words the United States reserved the right to say to the world court this or that particular case is essentially within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States, therefore you do not have jurisdiction. Many writers call this a veto power over the jurisdiction of the Court of International Justice. I do not agree with that contention, but on the contrary, I feel this country is deeply indebted to Senator Tom Connally for the great vision and foresight which he exhibited in attaching his amendment to the 1946 Senate Resolution subjecting this country to compulsory jurisdiction of the court in four classes of cases.

A Great Patriot

History has again proven that Senator Tom Connally will be marked as one of the great patriots of our time — a man of ability, integrity, and foresight.

The great debate as to whether or not this country should give up the right to determine whether the International Court has jurisdiction in any case which this country says is a matter of domestic jurisdiction, rose out of the proposal by Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) to repeal the Connally Amendment. President Eisenhower has requested repeal of the Connally Amendment and is, therefore, in support of Senator Humphrey's attempt to repeal this veto power. Vice President Nixon is also supporting the Humphrey resolution.

It would be most interesting to hear the debate in the senate if Tom Connally were still a member of that body. I feel that he had no peer as a master in debate. One of the best examples of his ability to cope with an adversary is the occasion when he told one of his colleagues who had been talking a long time without saying very much, the following: "If the gentleman would approach these problems with an open mind instead of an open mouth, he would be much more effective."

Opposition Likely

Another controversial matter in which the president will, undoubtedly, encounter much opposition is his recommendation in his budget message for repeal of the provision of the National Defense Education Act that prohibits payments or loans being made to any individual unless he executes an affidavit that he does not believe in or belong to any organization that teaches the illegal overthrow of the government.

The president said, "This affidavit requirement is unwarranted and justifiably resented by a large part of our educational community which feels that it is being singled out for this requirement." With this statement I disagree. Candidates for public office are required to sign a loyalty oath, and rightfully should be. A person going to school on borrowed taxpayers' money should not hesitate to declare his loyalty to the country which provides that money.

Undoubtedly True

In a recent congressional hearing, a witness vigorously opposed a project involving some irrigation water for an area noted for its ability to grow fine hay. He was asked by one of the committee members why he opposed projects designed to provide food for this country. His answer, "Because the people in my state don't eat hay."

Another alert member of the committee observed to me that there were times in the lives of all of us when hay would be an appropriate diet.

With the snow and freezing weather plaguing this area, many farmers and ranchers have started feeding their cattle in snow-covered fields. A group of calves clustered together as they munched hay in a field south of Canyon. Many cattlemen were being forced to move their cattle into feedlots so that the cattle could be fed.

Get Fish License Before Fever Hits

AUSTIN—"The fishing season is here, so get your 1960 fishing license before you get fishing fever," warns Earl Sprott, director of law enforcement for the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Last month, 37 persons were charged with fishing without the required licenses. "Most of these probably were individuals who forgot about a license until they were already in the boat and fishing," said the director.

According to the commission's monthly report on game and fish law violations, hunting contrary to the laws also ran high.

A total of 70 persons were charged with illegally hunting at night. Some 29 were charged with hunting without resident licenses. Another 29 were charged with hunting in closed season, and 23 were filed on for hunting from an automobile.

Wardens arrested 19 persons for killing doves out of season, five for hunting on game preserves, 14 for headlighting animals, 13 for killing deer in closed season, 12 in possession of wild doe deer, two for killing curlew, and 10 persons were charged for polluting public water.

A total of 413 violations were reported in January. Of these, 39 were dismissed in court, three served time in jail, six appealed, one had his fine suspended, and two were found not guilty.

Fines for the month amounted to $15,609.15 and court costs totaled $662, making $16,271.15 the amount paid by hunters and fishermen for game and fish violations in January.

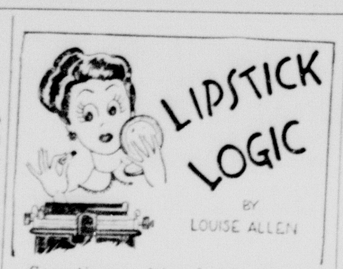
Reynolds Heads H. D. Council

Mrs. Earl Reynolds of the Palo Duro-Rusk Home Demonstration Club was elected T.H.D.A. chairman for next year at the regular meeting of the council Monday.

Mrs. C. M. Purcell of the Greenhaven club, Mrs. Dick Barrett of the Westside club, and Mrs. Marion Williams of the Canyon club were elected delegates to attend the district meeting which will be held in Claude April 7.

Dr. Dudley Moore was guest speaker on behalf of the Randall County Community Center project.

The Randall County Home Demonstration Council will meet on March 28 at 1:30 in the film room of the college library for the next meeting. A cancer film, "Time and Two Women," will be shown. All club members are urged to be present.



Sometimes it's hard to say "Thank you," even when you know it has to be done. For example:

When you're going to a place where you especially want to appear to advantage . . . And you dress carefully, grooming yourself well . . . And you make your entrance, walking confidently among the guests, feeling you look your best . . . Then seat yourself near an acquaintance . . . Who eyes you critically and plucks a thread, or hair, from your collar . . . And you think, "Oh, dear, and I thought I looked so nice!" . . . But you say "Thank you" just the same.

Or you begin to feel you've made a place for yourself in the community . . . a distinct individual . . . when someone comes across a room and calls you Mrs. Whatsis . . . Then says, "Well, you surely look like Mrs. Whatsis — and that's a compliment!" In your heart you know Mrs. Whatsis wears at least one dress-size larger than you do, and is five years older . . . Nevertheless you say lamely, "Thank you. I know it is." . . . And to yourself add, "So I'm spreading and aging, am I?"

Or you take on a hateful job for your club because nobody else wants to do it . . . And you get the work done, disliking every minute of it . . . And all those lovelies who wouldn't have touched the job with a ten-foot pole, come up and say, "You did a wonderful job! We just knew you would!" . . . And you resist the impulse to spit in their eye and instead say meekly, "Thank you."

Even when you know it has to be done, it isn't always easy to say, "Thank you!"

Billy Moore Has Birthday Party

Billy Moore celebrated his fifth birthday February 11 with a western party at his home northwest of Canyon.

Mindy Sternenberg and Nancy Winn were unable to attend but sent gifts.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Farmstead wind breaks furnish good cheap protection for livestock, buildings, gardens, and feed lots. Wind-breaks also provide shelter and feeding areas for wildlife.

For a wind-break to be most effective, you should have two to five rows of trees. The rows should be spaced from 16 to 25 feet apart with the trees in each row spaced 8 to 10 feet apart. Dense growing shrubs should be planted on the windward side of the wind-break and spaced three to four feet in the row. The ground should be chiseled or plowed about one foot deep.

Wire netting or chicken wire should be placed around the young seedlings to protect them from rabbits. The trees should be watered often until they are well established.

The trees should be ordered now so that you will receive them in time for you to have them planted by about April.

Farmers and ranchers who are interested in planting wind-breaks should contact the technicians of the Soil Conservation Service or the county agent for information on where and when to order the trees.

With the plentiful supply of moisture, those farmers and ranchers that intend to seed grasses should be making arrangements to get the grass drills and grass seed. The grass should be planted as soon as you can get into the fields. The mixture recommended for native grasses is 80 percent Blue grama and 20 percent Buffalo grass.

The Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District owns two grass drills and they may be rented by contacting Ed Dwyer at Canyon High School.

O.E.S. Entertains Masons and Wives

The Canyon City Chapter No. 105 O.E.S. entertained the Masons and their wives with a dinner Friday night.

The theme was western with a hitching post, campfire, saddle chaps, and kerosene lamps were the centers of interest. Ham, baked beans, potato salad, hot biscuits, cake and coffee were served to the guests.

The group was welcomed by Mrs. Roy Lyles, U.M., and Crawford Kiker, U.P. The response was given by Bill Wilson, a member of the Masonic Lodge.

The Debutantes, a Canyon High School group, accompanied by Miss Lynne Larson, sang several numbers. Members of the group are Judy Bourland, Judy Wilson, Jean Brazil, Joy Harter, and Frances Kiker. One square of sixth graders taught by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fletcher danced for the more than 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Johnston gave a country-type skit. He was Charlie Weaver and she was Minnie Pearl.

Although snow lately has been light, snow plows had to keep working to keep the highways clear. The snow plow shown here helped keep Highway 87 open north of Canyon on the hill near Buffalo Stadium. Unless snow plows begin work on the hill almost as soon as the snow starts falling, cars and trucks find it tough negotiating the steep incline.

IRS Officer Gives Common Tax Errors

With income tax season in full swing, H. B. Hamill, administrative officer of the Amarillo office of the Internal Revenue Service, was asked to furnish a list of the most common taxpayer errors in filing 1959 tax returns.

The errors Hamill listed are:

1. Many taxpayers are filing a separate Form 1040-A for each W-2 they received during the year. These taxpayers worked for several employers and do not realize that they should total their income and the tax withheld on one Form 1040-A.

2. Many returns are being received that have not been signed. Some of these are joint returns that must be signed by both husband and wife.

Check Arithmetic

3. Errors in arithmetic. This is an old complaint and many taxpayers are failing to check their arithmetic again this year.

4. Claiming a deduction for cigarette tax. Cigarette tax is not deductible in Texas.

5. Claiming no exemptions for self. The taxpayer is entitled to at least one exemption. A wife cannot file a separate return and fail to claim the exemption for herself in Texas since she must split the total family income with the husband under the community property laws. A school child is entitled to his or her own exemption in addition to the father claiming the exemption under a special provision of the law.

Hard to Understand

6. Failing to observe community property laws in Texas. Husband and wife must file a joint return or split the income under community property laws in Texas. Taxpayers who move to Texas from other states find this provision hard to understand.

7. Many taxpayers are filing a Form 1040-A or Form 1040-W with interest income of more than $200 requires that they file a Form 1040. These taxpayers should get a Form 1040 from the nearest post office, bank, or Internal Revenue Service office and file the correct form.

8. Failure to list dependents. The names of the dependents must be listed in order to avoid delaying the refund.

Printed Backwards

9. Taxpayers using the Form 1040-W are reversing the entries on wages and taxes withheld. The 1040-W form is printed backwards from the 1040.

10. Many 1040-A's are being received showing only the taxpayer's name, the employing company or companies, and the amount of tax withheld. No information on the amounts of wages received is listed. Other 1040-A's are being received where taxpayers worked for more than one employer during the year failed to total their wages, amounts, and also the amounts of tax withheld. The taxpayer must list his wages and his employers' names or Internal Revenue Service will have to return his tax form for him to correct the error.

Fashion Trends Heard at Club

"Keys to Good Grooming" were discussed at the Sue Hite Club meeting Monday afternoon in the museum club room.

Miss Gladys Armstrong, professor of home economics at West Texas State, directed the thoughts in current trends in fashion. Three students discussed phases of fashion. Robbie Petty lectured on the trends in fashion. Dorothy Menton spoke on figures and lines. Willa Faye Graves gave keys to dressing well on a budget.

During the short business meeting, the Silver Tea, which will be held on March 7 with other federated clubs, was discussed.

Hostesses were Mrs. Craig Johnson and Mrs. M. B. Measamer.

Tunisians to Visit County Dairies

Two Tunisians will visit Randall County dairy farms next week as a part of "Operation Dairy Production," John Brazzil, county agent, announced Monday.

The Tunisians are Mohamed Sahraoui and M'Hamed Ali Bouzaine. Sahraoui is an instructor at the Agricultural Service Center, where he teaches, does extension work, and analyzes feed and milk in the laboratory. Bouzaine is an instructor in the breeding section of the Sectariat of Agriculture of Tunisia, where he does work in sanitation and disease control, including milk inspection.

The pair will arrive next Tuesday afternoon and spend Wednesday and Thursday visiting county dairy farms and talking with local dairymen, Brazzil said.

A shortage of trained personnel in the field of animal husbandry and its related fields is one of the greatest problems in Tunisia, Brazzil said. "Operation Dairy Production" will provide training in all phases of dairy husbandry.

Randall County is one of six West Texas counties to be visited by the two. Others are Lubbock, Swisher, Potter, Deaf Smith, and Castro.

A well-preserved coyote was found hanging late last week on a fence post near the Texas Highway Department's caliche stockpile north of Canyon. With the freezing weather, it's difficult to tell how long the animal has been dead and how long it's been hanging on the post attracting passersby on the Highway 87 service road.

Graveside Rites Held for Infant

Graveside services for Jerry Wayne Seals, four-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Seals, 2602 Eighth Avenue, were held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Dreamland Cemetery.

LaGrone Funeral Chapel had charge of arrangements.

Survivors include the parents; a sister, Celina, and the grandparents, Mrs. Mildred Seals of Canyon and Mr. and Mrs. Sid White of Tucumcari, N. M.

Red Cross Drive Begins Monday

A house-to-house canvass will be conducted in an effort to meet the county goal of $1,800.

A total of 944 chapters in the Midwestern area which includes Texas are conducting campaigns to meet their goal of $10,022,377.

Local Cattlemen Expected at Sale

More than 500 cattlemen—many from this area—are expected to attend the Tenth Annual PanTech Beef Cattle Improvement Field Day and Sale March 24 at Panhandle.

Known as the "original performance tested bull sale," the field day and sale at PanTech annually draws cattlemen from this area.

Many of the leaders of Performance Registry International—which is headquartered in Canyon and which is the first organization to performance test cattle—are from this area.

Clyde R. Bradford of Happy, Colby Conkwright of Hereford, and Max A. Blau of Follett served as the first three presidents of PRI. Carlton Corbin of Ada, Okla., is 1960 president.

PanTech Farms, under the direction of J. P. Smith, was established in 1949 by Texas Tech College for the production of more and better beef through research. More than 1,200 bulls, representing the progeny of over 100 different livestock farms and ranches, have completed the 140-day official comparative feed lot test.

West Texas State College has one bull on test at PanTech Farms which has test gained 2.83 pounds per day for 112 of 140 days, Smith said.

Car Tag Sales Reported Slow

With sales of license plates dragging, the county tax assessor-collector's office is urging vehicle owners to pick up the tags now.

Persons who have reserved license numbers through BE 1125 are asked to get the tags this week, O. O. Henry, deputy tax assessor-collector, said.

County Leading In Auto Deaths

Randall County led most of the Panhandle and South Plains in persons killed, persons injured, and property damaged in rural traffic accidents during January, according to Sgt. D. W. Duggan of Hereford, Highway Patrol supervisor for this area.

Five persons were killed during January, all in the same car and same family, when the car in which they were riding collided with a train south of Amarillo.

No other county in the Panhandle or South Plains had more than one person killed during the month—and the area as a whole had only nine persons killed in January.

Randall County was slightly behind Potter County on the tally of persons injured in auto accidents. Ten persons were injured in Randall County, while 12 were injured in Potter County.

Randall County also trailed Potter County in property damage resulting from auto accidents. Some $7,180 in property damage was reported in Randall County, while Potter County reported $9,780.

The county took third place in the total number of traffic accidents during January with 13. Potter County had 27 rural accidents, while Gray County had 24 accidents.

Don't judge yourself too harshly—the neighbors will see to that.

Go to great lengths to keep your old friends—you can always make new enemies.

Mrs. Leatha Fullerton, who works in the office of Lee Foster, school tax assessor-collector, may appear to be checking the names on the annual school census, but she is probably checking only herself. Mrs. Fullerton has the unusual ability to remember the names of most youngsters in Canyon schools.

Recalling Names No Trick for Mrs. Fullerton

By ANNELLE DUGAN

They say elephants never forget. Mrs. Leatha Fullerton, clerk in the office of Lee Foster, school tax assessor-collector, is certainly not an elephant, but some say she never forgets—at least not the names of youngsters in the Canyon Independent School District.

Mrs. Fullerton, who has worked in the school tax assessor-collector's office for the past 12 years, has become so familiar with youngsters' names that she can name the children in any family if she is given a parent's name.

Favorite Stunt

Foster has a favorite stunt. He has a guest select a school census card at random. Mrs. Fullerton astounds the visitor with her ability to name the children, right down to the middle initial.

Her unusual feat is not limited to the names of children in Canyon schools. She also can list the children in families that live in the Canyon district but send the youngsters to school in another district, such as Umbarger or Happy.

Mrs. Fullerton's knack includes children who no longer live here. She can also name the pre-school age youngsters included in the annual census.

No Real Effort

She says she has made no effort to remember the names of the youngsters, but remembers them because she has worked with the census cards so much.

"Something I'm supposed to remember, I forget," Mrs. Fullerton smiled.

The genuine self-made man never considers himself finished.

Local Holsteins Are Classified

The herds of five Canyon Holstein breeders have been officially classified for type by Ronald C. Chapman of Ruthven, Iowa, an official inspector on the staff of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Results are as follows:

The program—in continuous operation since 1929)—provides the official means of comparing the conformation of living animals with that of the True-Type Holstein cow or bull.

Participation is currently at an all-time high level with upwards of 57,000 registered Holsteins inspected and officially classified each year.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—We may have a muddy spring this year . . . but will there be enough water for Texans in 2010?

This is not a fantastic question, but one that Texas' state and local officials, engineers and water planners are grappling with now. Out of their efforts come these items of news and views:

1. Gov. Price Daniel told a farm convention in Austin that Texas has made great progress in statewide water management in the past three years. But, he said, "much more remains to be done."

Water planning and development, said the governor, is essential to the state's growth and prosperity in the years ahead.

2. A series of three meetings will be held during March along the Colorado River and its tributaries to discuss water needs of those areas for the next 50 years.

Meetings will be held in conjunction with the U. S. Commission studying Texas' major river basins. They will be in Wharton March 8; Big Spring, March 15; and Austin, March 17. Colorado River Industrial Development Association (CRIDA) will sponsor the Austin and Wharton meetings, and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce the Big Spring meeting.

3. State Board of Water Engineers called for a "time out" until March 8 on the longest-ever water hearing. At issue in the hearings which began November 2 is whether the Trinity River Authority and City of Houston shall be granted permits to build two downstream reservoirs on the Trinity.

Water board, apparently getting short on patience, advised opponents to get together and solve their problems cooperatively. Hearing has been given to long, bitter arguments and frequent flare-ups among participants.

San Jacinto River Authority has been chief objector to granting of the permits. SJRA contends that Houston will shortly need more water for domestic use but that Trinity water, because it contains sewage from Dallas and Fort Worth, is not suitable. San Jacinto officials say Houston should work with SJRA to meet the city's domestic water needs.

In their far-ranging testimony, water engineers discussed the probable water needs of Houston, Dallas, and Fort Worth in 2010, and the possibility that Texas might be subjected before 2010 to a drought worse than that of 1950-57.

4. Texas is losing the battle for industry because of inadequate water supply, the director of UT's Balcones Research Center told an Austin meeting.

"Central Texas is in good shape," said Dr. J. Neils Thompson, "but the rest of the state is in sorry shape."

Texas has an average annual rainfall of 27 inches compared to an average of 30 inches for the U.S. as a whole, said Dr. Walter Moore, also a UT engineer. But he said Texas has a special problem — an evaporation rate 50 to 100 percent higher than for the U.S. as a whole.

Auto Deaths Drop

Texas had an "almost sensational" 28 percent drop in traffic deaths in the first seven weeks of the year, Governor Daniel announced.

This is the period since the new Safe Driving Auto Insurance Plan went into effect.

There were 69 fewer deaths during the first seven weeks of this year than during the same period in 1959. Drop was from 243 deaths in 1959 to 174 this year.

Board of Insurance Chairman Penn J. Jackson said he felt the new insurance rates, which are higher for careless drivers, were due at least a portion of the credit for the improved safety record.

Conclusive evidence, both the governor and insurance board chairman agreed, would have to await more time and statistics.

Industry Seekers Named

Nine men have been named by Governor Daniel to the new, enlarged Texas Industrial Commission.

He also gave them as their 1960 assignment the gaining of 254 new industries for Texas—one for each county.

Members of the old three-member Industrial Commission were appointed to the new board. They are E. B. Germany, Dallas; Houston Harte, San Angelo; and Chester C. Wine, Laredo.

New members are Robert F. Haynsworth, El Paso; Ray H. Horton, Houston; Morris Higley, Childress; Richard H. LeTourneau, Longview; James A. Redmond, Beaumont; and Al H. Chesser, Austin.

Fish For Farmers Questioned

A House of Representatives committee looking for ways to save tax money quizzed spokesmen of the Game and Fish Commission on its fish and quail re-stocking programs.

Committee members questioned whether the commission should give out free young fish raised in the state hatcheries. They go to farmers and others to stock tanks.

A commission official said the little fish cost the state about 1.5 cents each to raise.

Legislators also considered at length the commission's quail hatching operation near Tyler. Quail, it was brought out, cost about 60 cents each to raise, are sold to landowners for game restocking at 50 cents apiece.

Polio Outbreaks Foreseen

State Health Department predicts a rise in the number of polio cases in the spring months ahead.

Most of the victims, said the department, will be among those who have not taken advantage of polio shots.

Last year's record shows that three out of four polio victims had not had any vaccine and 9 out of 10 had not had all the recommended series.

We were glad to have our pastor's wife and son in church Sunday after an absence of several weeks.

Mrs. E. W. Schaeffer and Mrs. Rayford Shipman are ill with the flu.

Mrs. Ervin Wilson is working at White's Cafe.

Those playing "88" and visiting in the G. E. Wesley home Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wesley, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans, and C. P. Rogers. The same group played "88" Saturday evening in the J. W. Wesley home.

Arlen Wesley and Woodrow Wesley were luncheon guests in the J. W. Wesley home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans visited Thursday afternoon with the G. E. Wesleys and Aunt Serena Bryan.

The Gus Millers and Frank Rogers had to postpone their trip down state as Mr. Miller had surgery recently and his health wouldn't permit such a trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson feel like they are accomplishing something on their new home as they have finished painting.

Correction: Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley and Mrs. Jerry Shipman visited at Camp Hood and not Camp Walters as previously stated.
